The inputs what given by Mr. Revankar are worth a lot and will play a vital role in betterment of career of any manager as well as wellbeing. The valuable discussions and inputs received from Mr. Revankar are to WORK SMART rather than to work hard. Sir feels everyone works hard which is common but working smart is what the need of hour. A humor full Questions like "Why do you drink water?" and smarter answer "Because we can't eat it". He also described the SMARTER you are – you achieve great heights in our career faster.

Sir also stated that we should be SATISFIED with our work (self-satisfaction), we should be happy doing it only then we can perform to our best. If not then we won't be able to achieve much in our life.

Sir feels everyone should have their own routes of learning. Sir has gone through many changes in his career, because he was interested to learn new things. The same way Mr. Revankar feels everyone should have his own way of learning according to their choice and one should always take keen interest in whatever he is willing to pursue instead of a half-hearted effort. Sir feels COMMITMENT plays a vital role in every individual's life. If an individual is committed towards his work or career he will achieve great success and will go a long way in his career. He quoted the example of Sachin Tendulkar, and his practice session even when he was in peak of his career was a motivating one.
